Notes...

Sorry, no r&b list this month. There will be a Top 15 next month, at which point I may be taking typing lessons. Nah, these playlists would lose all their charm if they were perfectly typed. One of you record companies is gonna get smart and release the Outlets' album. They've definitely been the dominant Boston club band for the past six months at least, and it's a shame they haven't toured so the rest of you can see them.

That's all from here...remember, please call Monday afternoons.
